March 2020

President's Message

Dear Everyone: I am very happy to present our March speaker, Debbie Pappas of Second Chance Wildlife Rehabilitation. She is an expert on parrots and wild birds, and deals with more of them than you can possibly imagine. She is an emeritus member of the WAES, and her rehabilitation program is located in Price. Spring is upon us, and Debbie is going to talk to us about baby birds and how to deal with them, which is always a big problem this time of year. In addition to discussing handling baby birds, she will talk about the many wild birds, especially hawks, owls, and eagles, that her program rehabilitates. This should be a particularly interesting presentation, and extremely valuable for us who will chance upon baby birds in the next few months, and there is no telling how many of us that will be. I am looking forward to seeing all of you this coming Saturday!

New Birds and Adoptions:

WAES has 3 new birds available for foster or adoption.

Flip is a young female Meyer's Parrot.

Max is an older Red Headed Amazon.

Kizzy is a Congo African grey, believed to be female, about 21 years old.

Please see our webpage for more details about these and other adoptable birds.

Petrie, a sulfur-crested Cockatoo, was adopted by Stephanie & Ben Houghton.

Congratulations!!
